2006 JACK LONDON
100th ANNIVERSARY LIMITED EDITION
CABERNET SAUVIGNON

Since 1976, Kenwood Vineyards has been the exclusive producer of wines from the historic single vineyards of the famous Jack London Ranch located in Sonoma Valley, California. This limited edition from Kenwood's private cellar honors Jack London's life with a special re-release of the 2006 vintage, 100 years after the famous novelist and adventurer's passing.

TASTING NOTES

Complex notes of toffee, mint, and coco nibs combine with fruit aromas of fig, black currant and dried cherries. On the palate, the wine exhibits the rich body and smooth mouthfeel that only a well-aged Cabernet Sauvignon can deliver. The tannins are mellow and have a velvety texture that gives way to a long and elegant finish. Eight years of bottle age have given this wine a complex character with subtle flavors, making it an ideal match for lightly-seasoned roast meat dishes.

JACK LONDON VINEYARD

The Jack London Vineyard creates distinctive red wines that have a loyal following. The red volcanic soil and pleasantly warm climate of this hillside location combine to produce rich, full-bodied wines. Located on Sonoma Mountain with a southeastern exposure, the vineyard is above the fog level and receives early morning sun, followed by late afternoon breezes which temper the day's most extreme heat. The result of this exceptional terroir is grapes of great distinction that make wines with superb flavor and deep, rich color.

WINEMAKING

The 2006 vintage had a long growing season with low yields resulting in grapes with intense flavor and rich character. The fruit was picked at the peak of ripeness in late September and then crushed into stainless steel tanks for fermentation. After fermentation the young wine was pressed and settled before aging in French and American oak barrels for two years.
